MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Amendment by Senator Buckley to Limit Access to Educational Records

1. I have consistently, without success, tried to contact John Kwapicz, Senator James L. Buckley's (R., N. Y.) staff man who prepared the amendment limiting access to educational records. I have stopped by the office on numerous occasions; however, Kwapicz was so deluged with calls that he was unable to see me or call. I did, however, review certain of the material that Kwapicz is using in preparing the amendments which Senator Buckley is introducing, but this principally involves limiting the access by students to their own records. He does not intend to make any major concessions as to relaxing access by outsiders.

2. I have talked to other members of the Senator's staff. Paul Corwin, whom I talked to yesterday, stated that Senator Buckley will make it clear that the amendment does not preclude colleges from publishing certain personal data, such as name, address, phone number, etc., for inclusion in student directories, yearbooks, and the like. I explained that [REDACTED] 25X1A
[REDACTED] Corwin felt certain this would present no problem though it would be a matter for each college to determine. He added that Senator Buckley does not intend to limit the use of any student information which does not relate to evaluation and class performance. 25X1A
